out nearly half the boys in town with a new suit the past two weeks. If we Members of Congress Who Will haven't fitted out your boy you are losing a big chance to save money! Like you to see these "all-wool" Reefer TO FILL HOLMAN'S PLACE Suits we are selling at $2.50!

Parker, Bridget & Co

315 7th St.

-Perfect in detailfaultless in construction-

BIA" wheel. The longer 'tis ridden, the more 'tis liked.

Columbia Field is where every aspirant to cycling honors should practice. To learners we issue a $2 "guarantee" ticket.

District Cycle Co., "COLUMBIAS." J. Hart Brittain, 452 Pa. Ave.

GEORGETOWN ATHLETICS.

The Students Give an Interesting Exhibition of Their Skill. The track and field sports held by the students of Georgetown College yester-day, though nothing of an astonishing nature was done, were of an exceedingly interesting character.

The forecast of results given by The Times yesterday proved correct in nearly every instance. The 100 yard and 220 yard dashes were won by Fox—the first in 0.10 3.5 and the second in 0.24 3.5. Fleming was second in the 100-yard dash and Walsh was second in the 220-yard event. Devereux won the 120-yard burdle race in 0:21, with Fleming second. The 220-pard hurdle race was won by Fox; Mc-Anerny second, in 0:30 4-5. The 440-yard dash Hall captured cleverly in 0:59, Devereux coming second and Douglas third. Holt also took the 880-pard race, with Devereux again second and Douglass third in 2:24.

Douglass took the mile run in 4:53, with Guiller second and Walsh third, while the mile walk went to Cameronin 8:321-2, with Sullivan second and Firsk third. The bicycle race fell to Taggart. The vo miles were covered in 7:10; Romadka was second.

These finished the track events. In the sixteen pound harnmer throwing event Doyle was first with 73 feet 10 inches; McCrea second with 68 feet 2 inches, and third with 65 feet 8 inches

Shea third with 65 feet 8 inches.

The running broad jump went to Fleming, who had marked to his credit 19 feet 3 1-2 inches; McAnerney was second with 18 feet 3 inches, and Walsh third with 17 feet 3 inches. The high jump went to Dillon, with 5 feet 2 1 2 inches. Dillon won at pole vaulting, clearing 8 feet 6 inches. Fleming was second.

There were seven competitors in the contest at putting the sixteet-pound shot, and test at putting the sixteen-pound shot, and it was a good one all through. Doyle won with 35 feet 10 inches; McLaughlin was second with 34 feet 10 inches, and Sheathird with 34 feet 6 inches.

GENERAL SPORTING NOTES.

An inquiry as to the whereabouts of the then who went to Europe in 1874 as mem-bers of the famous oid baseball combina-tions has brought out this reply. McVey is in California; Al Spaulding, New York and Chicago: Kent, Concord, N. H.; Ross Barnes, Chicago: Barry Schafer, George Wright and Andy Leonard, Boston; Jim O'Rourke, Bridgeport, Conn.; Tom Beals, Nevada; Of the Athletic of Philadelphia, John Ciapp is a policeman in Ithaca, N. Y.; Dick Me-Bride, West Fisier, John Sesenderiffer, Mike McGeory, are in Philidelphia; Al Gedney, New York: A. C. Anson, Chicago, John Mc-Mullen, dead: Joe Batten, Utica; T. H.

Union, at its meeting in New York Novem-ber 21, will attempt to take control of the football played by amateur athletic asso-ciation teams. In several of the large ath-letic clubs there is a disposition to ignore the rules of amateur sport. Football men who have been paid either for coaching or playing will be barred from A. A. U. contests. They are really professionals, but parade as amateurs. Some Eastern athletic teams have asked the unio sanction all the games they play. The question will undoubtedly be taken up at the November meeting, and the profes-sionals will be barred out of amateur contests thereafter.

Miss Annie B. Porter, of Chicago, holds the ladies' century record of 7 hours 18 minutes and 31 seconds.

He Was Extravagant. He-It doesn't seem possible, dearest, that just one week from to-night you will be own, sweet little wife. he (dreamily)—Doesn't it? But (sweetly) if you are always as good to me as you have been during our engagement. I shall have no He-I didn't know that I had been so good you. she—Indeed, you have. Why, just look at the lovely engagement ring you gave me! It's almost twice as large as any of the other girls'- remembering the bill)—True, my darl-I wanted you to have the best. e—And look at all the other beautiful things you have given me.

He (modestly)—You deserved them, dear,

She-And think of the lovely wedding trip we are going on.

He-I'm glad that you are pleased with it. By the way, I have something else for you. Something in diamonds for your wed-

She (clapping her hands)-Oh, I just know it is perfectly elegant! Can't I have a peep at it beforehand? -Certainly. I want you to. It will be

-And will you let me see it to-morrow night?

He—I am afraid not, dearest. You see to-morrow night I have arranged to give my to-morrow might i have arranged to give my ushers a little dinner.

She (coldly)—Do you think it necessary to give your ushers a dinner?

He-Certainly. Why not?

She (reproachfully)—Have you considered, dear, how much it will cost?—Tem

Masson, in Truth.

The Billville Banner. Georgia editor talks about "taking in the Midway," but every time we tackled it the Midway always took us in. We learn that during our absence from home we were nominated for the Legislature. This, in the event of our election, will give us an opportunity to make $4 a day and a reputation.

We marched with the Exposition soldiers yesterday, and it made us think of the time when we saw the boys going to the war and heard the stirring notes of "Dixie" from under the fooder in the harn loft. The head of our family will deliver her lecture on "Woman's Rights" at an early say, before the Exposition is over. We will not be present, as we have heard the lecture before.—Atlanta Constitution.

RELIEVE we have fitted THEY ARE BACK NUMBERS ALL IN GEORGEOUS ARRAY

B3 Conspicuous by Absence.

silver-Dollar" Bland and Tim Camp bell Are No More-Col. Breckinridge a Past Issue-Wilson a Cabinet Officer and "Buck" Kilgore Has a Judgeship-Jerry Simpson Also Out.

The time for the meeting of the Fifty-fourth Congress is awaited with much interest. The new Congress will be con-spicious for one thing at least—the absence of many old and familiar faces-faces that have shown radiantly, in the lower house particularly, for a quarter of a century, if not longer. First of all, and probably the best-known member of the house, who was left at home is Hon. William S. Holman, of the Fourth Indiana district. He has been in Congress for thirty years. He was first elected to the Thirty-sixth Congress, and with the exception of the Thirty-ninth, Forty-fifth and Porty-sixth Congresses, he has served as a member of the lower bouse ever since. For many years he has borne the sobrique of "Watch Dog of the Treasury." He may have saved millions for Uncle Sam, but he never saved a dollar out of the $150,000 he has drawn down in salary during his thirty. has drawn down in salary during his thirty years in Congress. Mr. Hoiman is now seventy-three years of age, and not with standing his long service in Congress and the many opportunities he must have had to become rich, he left the house a poorer man than when he entered it thirty-six years ago.

RODE HIS HOBBY. Richard Parks Bland, who has represented the Eighth Missouri district in Congress for the last twenty- we years, is another old and familiar face that will be found missing in the next House. He is the father of the "Bland Silver Dollar," and has been the leader of the silver forces in the House ever since the white metal bethe House ever since the white metal be the House ever since the white metal became an issue.

The trouble with Bland was that he rode his hobby to death. Even his constituents grew weary of his silver songs, and last November declined to return him to Congress. Judge James E. Cobb, of Georgia, who became lamous for his "where am I at" speech in the Fifty-second Congress, was also lost in the shuffle last fall. He wasn't in Congress long—only eight years wasn't in Congress long—only eight years— but since that memorable speech be has been one of the best-known men in the

Col. William C. P. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, who represented the Seventh dis-trict of that State for ten years, was de-feated for renomination by a disgusted constituency a year ago. It was after his famous trial for breach of promise, in which Madeline Pollard figured as prosecutrix

It was a desperate fight, and one that will always be remembered in Kentucky. Col. Breckinridge was known as the "sil-ver-tongued orator." He is one of the finest and most entertaining talkers who have occupied a seat in the lower house of Congress for years. He was a man of considerable influence among his fellow-members until the scandal with Miss Polhard. Even then he retained quite a number of his old friends, and had be been re-elected to Congress he would to-day occupy a prominent position among the great statesmen of the country. His political race is run, however, and he may never be heard of again in that world.

never be heard of again in that world.

Timothy J. Campbell, of the Ninth New York district, is a character who will not be seen in the next House. Tim was first elected to the Forty-ninth Congress to fill the seat of Samuel S. Cox, who resigned to accept the mission to Turkey during President Cleveland's first term. He was rejected to the Efficie first Fifty. President Cleveland's Irist term. He was reclected to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congressies, but was turned down by Tanimany Hall for Harry C. Miner, the well-known actor and theatrical manager of Gotham.

WILSON AND BRYAN. Prof. William L. Wilson, of West Virginia, the author of the present tariff bill, who has represented the Second district of that State in the House for the last dozen years, is another who was caught out in the wet last November. He is still in public life through the kindness of Grover Cleveland. He is a member of the Pres-ident's official family, being the chief dis-penser of patronage at the post-office pie counter.

Hon. William Jennings Bryan, of Lincoln, Neb., is another statesman, who, while only in Congress two terms, became rather famous. Although now only 35 years of age be was one of the finest orators in the House.

in the House.

Speaker Crisp took such a liking to the youngster that he made him a member of the Ways and Means Committee, and he proved himself a very valuable assistant to Chairman Wilson. Bryan is a rabid free trader, and the Wilson bill, as it passed the House, did not suit him. If he had had his way he would have free-listed nearly everything. While a Demo-crat, he differed with the Cleveland Admin-istration in many things, and that prob-ably accounts for his not being in the next . He became involved in a fight for State supremacy with Secretary of Agri-culture Morton and got the worst of the

HE WAS A CUCKOO.

William M. Springer, who represented the Thirteenth Illinois district in the lower House of Congress for twenty years, was side-tracked last November. He belonged to the small coterie of years, was succiracised last november. He belonged to the small coterie of statesman in the last House, known as "Cleveland Cuckoos." After his defeat for re-election tife President appointed him to a life judgeship down in Okla-

The Honorable Constantine Buckley Kilgore of Texas served eight years in the House from the Third district of the Lone Star State. He was noted for his Lone Star State. He was noted for his kicking and objecting abilities. He was an adjutant general in the Confederate army. His hatred for Union soldiers was so intense that it was impossible to get a bill through the House for the relief of them when "Buck," as he was familiarly called, was present. He was not in Consess lear and the became known as the gress long until he became known as the "Great Objector," taking Father Holman's place.

During the exciting day of the Fiftyfirst Congress, when Speaker Reed was endeavoring to secure a quorum, "Buck," who was locked in the Chamber during a "call of the House," kicked down a door and walked out. While doing his kicking act, Dingley, of Maine, who was on the opposite side of the door, received a blow in the fac when the door, received a now in the face when the door flew open. He still carries a mark on his nasal appendage as a reminder of that little episode. "Buck" kicked him self out of Congress, but, like Springer of Illinois, he landed in an Oklahoma Judge Another noted statesman will be cor Another noted statesman will be consolicious for his absence. He is Jerry Simpson, the "Sockless Socrates, of Medicine Lodge, Kansas." Jerry, it will be remembered, came to Congress on the idial wave of 1890. He was elected by the People's party of "Bleeding Kansas," with the aid of the Democrats.

Homeopathic. Mowler—I see some philosopher says that the way to cure yourself of a love affair is to run away. Do you believe it?

Cynlcus-Certainly, if you run away with the girl.-Truth. An Improvement. Preacher—Yes, my brethren, there is only one thing more beautiful, more im-periant than to have faith in humanity, and that is— Wealthy Stock Broker (in a whisper)-To get bumanity to have faith in you.

"What makes your husband so sober to-night?" said Mrs. Kilduff, who was try-ing to make berself agreeable to Mrs.

Continued from First Page.

was stationed in the gallery at the north-eastern corner of the church. Under the direction of Walter Damrosch they filled in the three-quarters of an hour before the arrival of the bridal party with the follow-ing selections: Overture, "Leonore." N. III, Beethoven. "Ave Maria," Gounod. Introduction third act, "Lohengrin,"

Introduction third act, "Lohengrin," Wagner.
Preisleid, "Die Meistersinger," Wagner.
Adagio, from "Sympathy," Tschalkowsky.
At 12 o'clock the officiating clergy, attired in their clerical robes, entered from the vestry room. Bishop Littlejohn, who officiated, followed by Bishop Potter and the Rev. John Wesley Brown, rector of the church, took their stations at the chancel, and waited the arrival of the bride and bridegroom.

At a few minutes before 12 o'clock carriages containing the bride, her mother riages containing the bride, her mother and the bridesmalds drove up to the church. The bridal party at once went to the small room at the left of the entrance, where the last touches were put on the sisters to the marriage of her daughter caused much talk but little surprise.

A large crowd gathered about Mrs. Vanderbilt's house in the morning and watched narrowly all the goings on there. There was as usual a predominance of women. A squad of police were on hand to prevent and disorder and to protect the family and guests from annoyance. The house was profusely decorated for the reception to follow the wedding. The halls were filled with palms and ferns.

A Hungarian orchestra was stationed under the staircase, screened from view by a network of hanging vines. The bride and bridegroom received the guests in the main drawing room, standing beneath a large bell of lilies of the valley. Bushes of chrysanthemums and roses and banks and wreaths of cut flowers were arranged about the house.

SERVICE OF GOLD. The wedding breakfast was served in the large dining-room. Eighteen covers were laid at the table of the bridal party.

The service was of gold.

Each guest received the customary, wedding cake in a small box, having on its cover a coronet and the letters C. and M.

intertwined.
One hundred were present at the break fast. They included the clergy, several repre

St. Thomas's Church

gowns, and everything was in readiness for the ceremony.

William K. Vanderbilt reached the church on the minute of 12 o'clock. He drove down from the Metropolitan Club, and escorted his daughter to the altar. When all was ready for the ceremony the church was closed, and no one was allowed to enter whether or not they were provided with a card.

Mrs. Vanderbilt was escorted up the center alsie to the front pew on the north side, which she occupied with her other children. The bridal procession formed in the southern vestibule. Mr. Warren then began the wedding march from Lohengrin.

WEDDING PROCESSION. The Duke of Marlborough with his best man, his consin, the Hon. Iver Guest, en-tered the church from the vestry room and took their posts at the right of the chancel and awaited the coming of the bride. The duke wore a frock suit of dark gray cloth a white Ascot tie, patent leather shoes and white gloves.

The ushers marched up the side aisles and took their stations in front of and at cither side of the chancel. The brides maids led the bridal procession, walking two and two in the following order: Miss Catharine Duer and Miss Elsie Bron son; Miss Laura Jay and Miss May Goelet Miss Daisy Post and Miss Marie Winthrop

Miss Edith Morton and Miss Evelyn Burden. Then came Miss Vanderbilt on the arm of her father, and carrying in her left band the bridal bouquet. The bridesmaids took positions at either The bridgesimals took positions at earner side of the chancel. The bridge promise pepel forward and took the right hand of Miss Vanderbilt and led her to the chancel steps. The marriage rite of the Episcopal Church then followed, Bishop Littlejohn officiations.

Immediately after he had given his daugh sentatives of the British Legation at Washington, the bridal party and their immediate families and Miss Vanderbilt's nearest friends.

HOW TRAMP ACTORS LIVE.

Outcasts From the Profession, Yet Eke Out a Livelihood. I ran across a curious character-such a e as would have delighted Dickers-in a Pennsylvania town the other day. He stood on an empty packing box at a He stood on an empty packing box at a street corner early in the evening. A crowd of 100 or more persons surrounded him, listening eagerly. The man, who was, perhaps, fifty, was dressed in shabby blue fiannel clothes. His head was bared. As I approached I noticed that he was gesticulating vigorously and that his voice was releast in lumpssioned speech.

was raised in impassioned speech.

"An itinerant preacher," I thought But when I drew nearer I found that he was not exhorting his hearers to embrace religion: he was declaiming Shakespeare, and his audience was hanging upon his words with breathless interest. I joined the circle.

Presently the main said he would give them a bit of Roman history, In well-chosen Fresenty the man said he wood give them a bit of Roman history. In well-chosen words, with great terseness, he told the story of Caesar's life, and then played the scene from the tragedy between Cassus and Brutus, in which the lean and hungry one in Brutus, in which the lean analympty one cities his gentier brother against the tyrant. The delivery of the lines was superb. I know of no living American actor who could speak them with more dramatic power or poetic appreciation. The elocation was correct enough to satisfy the requirements even of Alired Ayres, while feeling, imagination and bean appreciation of the exact value of of Airred Ayres, while feeling, imagination and keen understanding of the exact value of thought and word were compicuous.

And what a voice! It seemed as if Forest's throat and lungs had been reproduced by nature. Powerful, resonant, deep, with notes whose richness and vibration resembled a cathedral organ, the voice of that street reciter delighted and anazed. Beneath its spell newsboys sat on the curb and listened in speechless wonder; negroes, clerks, workingmen, shop girls, all stood entranced. Other selections from "The Merchant of Venice," "Hamlet," and some of the mod-ern poets followed. Between them the reciter entertained the crowd with extenporaneous remarks, enlivened with wit and weighted with philosophy. Then he took up a collection, and nickels, dimes and quar ers dropped pleasingly into his battered man aside and interviewed him for the Mirror, for he was palpably an actor, in spite of his tatters.

"By the grace of God."
"What do you do this for?"

Have you tried to get an engagement? "Yes, in New York. You can get typhoid fever there-anything, except an engage-panies to a disastrous finish You are used to being strapded? Texas. I transped back to New Blenheim Castle, Ancient Seat of the Mariboroughs.

ter away Mr. Vanderbilt quietly left the church.

When the marriage ceremony was over the Duke and his bride went to the vestry reom and signed the marriage registry.
At the same time each of the bridesmaids took a basket of nosegay and marched back up the aiele, distributing them among the guests. As the Duke and his bride re-enwedding march from Tannhauser The bridesmalds ered the church the orchestra played the wedding march from Tannhauser.

The bridesmalds returned to the chancel and the bridal party marched down the aisle, the ushers leading. The bridesmalds followed them and then came the Duke and his bride. After them came Mrs. Vanderbilt on the arm of Mr. Guest. The party immediately entered carriages and drove to Mrs. Vanderbilt's house, where the re-ception and breakfast followed.

CONSPICEOUS ABSENCES. One feature of the wedding which has excited much comment was the fact that few of W. K. Vanderbilt's family were invited either to the church or to the breakfast. Cornelius Vanderbilt's house is closed. He and his family are in Newport, and will not return to town for a few days. Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard, Mr. Vanderbilt's ter, and her daughter, Miss Edith Shepard, sailed for Europe to-day. George Vanderbilt, F. W. Vanderbilt, and Mrs William H. Vanderbilt were not at the derbilt family is said to have its foundation in the coolness between Mrs. W. K. Van-derbilt and the Vanderbilt family as the result of her recent divorce from her hus-paying my way by these street entertainments."

"Do they pay?"
"Generally $4 or $5 a day. Some people call me the tramp actor. So I am in appearance. In reality I am a king, a god! I have no artistic jealousy, for I play all the parts myself. I need no scenery, no printing. I never have to pay excess baggage. The world is my theater, a box (which I borrow) my stage, the bine skies my borders. I have no serious objection except the trolley cars. Thespis owned a cart; otherwise he had no advantage over me."

disclosed his name to me in confidence— promised to inform the Mirror of interesting ncidents of his wanderings from time time. His route doesn't bother him, makes his dates from day to day, a nobody objects if he cancels them.—N.

Not Likely. Elsie—Yes, dear, my husband is a doctor and a levely fellow, but he is awfully Ada-Indeed!

Elsie-Only fancy. During the marriage ceremony, when he gave me the ring, he felt my pulse and asked me to put out my Ada—Well, he won't do the latter again. -London Tid-Bits.

The Degenrate Novelist.
Beneath a sheltering pseudonym
He writes those grisly tales and grim,
That sicken and depress;
A primrose by a river's brim

An extremely handsome Skirt, velvet bound—four godets—lined throughout. You seldom have an opportunity to get such a bargain as this.

CLARK'S,

734-736 Seventh St. N. W.

Fine Frills For Dog Dandies

FASHIONABLE PURBELOWS FOR ARISTOCRATIC PETS.

All Self-Respecting Dogs Wear High Muffs and Bouquets of Flowers.

It would be both partial and inaccurate to give this autumn the palm of fashionable popularity to pet dogs of any special breed or color, because to-day that which marks the smart dog among his lesser fellows is the wherewithal he is arrayed. Bull and fox terriers, dandles and dachschunds, pugs and wire-haired Scotch terriers, among the small canines, are equal favories; but after being put in possession of the dog she wanted the feminine owner now hurries the astonished little animal off at once to her astonished little animal off at once to her tailor. Faithful Fido is there belped onto a table and his measures taken for suitable winter outside wraps. If Fido is a pink-faced, blunt-nosed Boston bull tertier his blanket is made of dark green sik corduroy or heavy damson-colored cloth, lined with satin of the same shade and bound with dark green or damson saede.
It circles his neck, catches below his chin, with three small silver buttons, fits well down over the loins, and is furthermore held by a suede or patent leather strap, that circles his whole body and holds on one side This coat must fit as accurately as that of his mistress does, for 'tis usually, by the way, made from a piece of her own gown and it sometimes shows the initials in silver thread worked in one corner. Just up near the throat, on the left-hand side the taller is ordered to work a side, the tall is ordered to work a buttonhole and fix a rubber strap, for there every morning and afterneon is fast-ened Fido's boutonniere of carnations. But his dogship's wardrobe does not end here, for in case of weddings he must have a suitable garment, more particularly nice in case it is his mistress' wedding. Then the blanket is of pure white corduror, bound with satin ribbon, while a wide ribbon tied about his body holds a nosegay of real orange blossoms or the same sort of flowers carried in the bridal bouquet. of howers carried in the bridal bouquet.

Morning Tollets.

On this occasion he wears around his neck a thickly quilted ruche of white satin ribbons in place of his collar, and along with the bridesmaids he comes in for a favor of some sort from the groom.

This is apt to be a locket with canine sentiments engraved on it and a picture of his mistress inside, or one of these mar-velously luxurious dog collars of white suede, studded with silver knobs and caught with a patent clasp, decorated with a pretty ing wear. They are made of quitted ril in, or even of miroir velvet, and a familnot, of even of introl verset, and a same iar sight on Fifth avenue in New York is a handsome, ferocious-boking brundle bul-dog, who trots at his mistress' heels, wear-ing a huge rosette of green velvet on his collar, and in the midst of the rosette is collar, and in the midst of the resette is pinned a big red rose. Sometimes his collar is a folded band of velvet with two big rosettes, one under each ear, and a little knot of violets pinned in the center of both. Bight behind this modish beast follows the indy's Scotch terrier, an ugly, sandy haired little animal, whose blankets are always the latest fashions from Paris. They are of stoutfaille, dark brown, green, or bine and each one displays a smari little pocket from which peeps out a dainty colored handkerchief in one of the corners of which shows his embroidered initials. LOCAL ATHLETIC GOSSIP

Calling Costumes

Football Men Are Still Wrangling Over Old Scores.

Contests Between the Leading Teams Will Be Few and Far Between Unless a Truce Is Patched Up.

The Columbian University yesterday sent to Mr. Robert Dick Douglas, manager of the field and track department of George-town College, two more entries for the intercollegiate meet to take place on Satur-day. They are Wolfekuhler and Campbell. Both are sprinters. Both are sprinters.

Wolfekuhler is said to be a very fast mon.

Wolfeguner is said to be a very less than it is not expected by the Columbians that he will beat Wefers, but it is thought that he will give him a race in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes, and that he will certainly finish no worse than second. Campbell is also said to be a speedy man, and with these two, and Schade in the bicycle event, and Green in the pole-vaulting contest, the Columbian boys expect to make a very creditable showing. The action of the University of Penn-sylvania men in declining to meet the Bos-ton Athletic Association team yesterday according to agreement struck the local football fraternity as a display of exceed-ing weakness, and brought down upon the heretofore believed to be invincible com-bination a good deal of ridicule. It was fooked upon as a pure case of scare, brought fooked upon as a pure case of scare, brought on by the experience the Pennsylvanians had with the Chicago Athletic Association

The Canterburys have challenged the Shamrocks for an early game, but the latter will not take on an engagement with them until they have arrived at some definite understanding with the Potomacs. The Canterburys are a much heavier team than the Shamrocks, averaging about 155 than the Shamrocks, averaging about 155 pounds, while the Shamrocks average more than ten pounds tess.

Capt. Dougherty, of the Shamrocks, discovered two or three weak spots in the make-up of the Shamrocks in the game with the Rockville boys on Monday that with the Rockville boys on Monday that he proposes to strengthen at once. One of these holes is to be plugged with a mute named Kechner, who played with the Rockvilles.

Kechner played right end for the visitors on Monday. He made more trouble for the Shamrocks than any other man among their opponents, and his work was the talk of the entire crowd of spectators. He has had offers, it is said, to play in Baltimore and Philadelphia, but wants to come more and Philadelphia, but wants to come to Washington, and the Shamrocks have gladly accepted his services.

Prof. Baldwin and his aggregation of foot-ball players appear to have been lost in the shuffle. They were at practice regularly a source. They were at practice regularly a couple of weeks ago, and were said to be programmed for a game with the Blakes on the 15th of this month, but the professor and the ladies have not been seen or heard of lately, and it is probable they have given the notion up as a bad job.

Cabura, right end for the Columbian Col-lege eleven, is not only a tip-top football player, baseball player and good athlete generally, but he is a fast and plucky bicycle rider, and will start in the two-mi care at the Georgetown inter-collegiate contests on Saturday. He knows his college chum, Schade, is looked upon by many as a sure winner of that event, barring accident, but he believes he can give the bandsome young blonde a lively chase, not with standing his supposed superiority.

It was ramored yesterday that big Mike Mahoney, to whom Georgetown College boys are looking for great work in the contests on Saturday, had given it out that he would not take part in any of the events on that day. If big Mike, with his twenty years, six feet four, and 220 pounds, should fail to appear there will be much disappointment, for he is not only one of the very best athletes, but he is one of the most popular students at the college.

The Baltimore Athletic Club which is to The Baltimore Athletic Club which is to play here with the Columbia Athletic Club men on the 16th is rated by Baltimore football experts to be one of the very strongest club combinations to be found anywhere in the East. They are spoken of as being right up in rank with such teams as that of the Boston Athletic Association and Chicago Athletic Association, and their friends predict that the Columbia men will hardly be able to give them healthy exercise. e able to give them healthy exercise.

The bad weather of last Saturday forced the visit of the Central High School eleven to Laurel to meet the team of that town, and the game has been set for next Sat-urday. In the meantime the Centrals are getting in some telling practice work and they expect to give the Laurel lads a

The University of Virginia men, so it is said, have assured the Columbian 'Varsity team that they will be glad to give them a trial on the gridiron in the near future. They may send in a date for the meeting before the week is over.

Mr. McArthur, who is engineering the Thanksgiving Day road race, is sending entry blanks for the event to many promi-nent riders in the East and South, and it is thought will hear favorably from a fair share of them. It was said yesterday that Sins would certainly be among the starters, if Mudd goes in, as it will make him feel particularly good to beat the ster-ling man in a race of his own making.

The Gallandet boys do not mince w in giving reasons for declining to meet the Columbia Athletic club team. They say they do not regard slugging as essential to good football playing. They might have couched their meaning in milder terms, but they probably said just what they wanted to This is further evidence that there will be few contests this year among the stronger local teams, a fact that will be regretted by every lover of the football game.

G. C. Fox, of Chicago, who was recently transferred from Class A to Class B by the L. A. W., rode one-third of a mile, unpaced, with a flying start, at the Fountain Ferry track, Louisville, on Saturday, in 43 seconds. A. F. Senn rode two miles with a flying start, unpaced, in 4 minutes 29 seconds.

The Columbia College eleven goes to Alexandria this afternoon to play the Episcopal High School team of that town. The col-lege boys will be accompanied by a big delegation of their college chums.

Mr. Heary Bradley is getting ready to give his friends the sport of a live bird shoot at his farm, near this city, next week. The third game of the Basket Ball League series will be played by the Young Men's Christian Association and Washington Athletic Club teams, at the rooms of the former this evening.

WORLD'S RECORD BROKEN. Kausas Boy Makes One-third of a Mile in Forty-two Seconds.

Salina, Kans., Nov. 6 .- Frank Eberhardt broke the world's one-third mile standing start unpaced bicycle record here yester-day on the track of the Salina Bicycle Club, covering the distance in 42 seconds. The lowest previous record was 43 seconds, made by Cox, of Chicago. Eberhardt is but 17 years old, stands six feet high and weights 168 pounds.

He has lowered all of the State records and is considered a phenomenal rider.

It Was Time to Die The cyclone, with a how of fiendish glee, struck the east-bound California fruit train full amidships, as it were.

In an instant millions of small, blaish, writkled objects went hurling through the circulatory atmosphere. The cyclone took one look at himself and then—

"Great heavens!" he shricked, "I am full of prunes!"

of prunes!"

With that he lay down and died.—Cin-

At Loeb & Hirsh's.

Your Winter Suit and Overcoat is here as you would have it if you went to the best custom tailor in town.

Overcoats in Melton, Beaver and Kersey range even as low as $7.50.

From that up to $40.00.

You know those fine IRISH FRIEZE Overcoats that are so popular? Of course we have them-beautifully made-elegantly lined -the kind you would wearnot the other kind.

From (for the right kind) $12.50 to 18.50.

· Sios of Fared

THE BEST MEDICAL SKILL BAFFLED.

MR. SAMUEL E. HENRY, 650 Columbia MR. SAMUEL E. HENRY, 650 Columbia avenue, Baitimore, bridge of nose eaten out, roof of mouth and palate eaten off, throat full of ulcers and holes; all liquids would run through nose when swallowing; pronounced the worst case of catarrhever seen and incurable. To-day, well.

MR. HENRY BOETTINGER, 1915 Wilhelm street, Baitimore: One year ago my son could not talk; palate eaten off; roof of mouth and throat full of holes; offensive discharges; face and neck full of lumps; pronounced catarrh in its worst form and incurable; cured one year ago to-day; no sign of any return.

MR. CHARLES MICHAEL, 611 N Fremont avenue, Baitimore: One year ago my and CHARLES MICHAEL, 611 N Fre-mont avenue, Baltimore: One year ago my son was cured after being pronounced in-curable by six of our best doctors, the bridge of nose eaten off, very offensive; in fact, no one could remain in a room with him; his wholesystem was poisoned with catarrh; to-day no sign of any return. The above used only Dr. George W. Fisher's Catarrh Cure PRICE, 50 CENTS. BY ALL DRUGGISTS. For further information apply to Alfred B. Gawler, General Agent, 613 15th st. nw.

TRUNKS.

The cheapest house in town-CERMUILLER'S. 641 Louisiana Ave. N. W.

NOTES ABOUT BOXERS.

Young Beckett, who is scheduled to meet "Roaring Joe" near River View on the 17th, says if he wins this battle, he will be 17th, says if he wins this battle, he will be willing to take on another one at once. Beckett is a lively-looking boy. If he can fight as well as he looks and talks, he ought to be able to put up a very lively mill. Those who claim to know about his ability believe that he is capable of giving any of the boxers of his pounds hereabouts all the fight they want, and a good deal more.

more.

Frank Wongo, the Indian, is in Phila-delphia trying to make another match with Jack Hanley. Wongo says the only thing that kept him from giving Hanley a drah bing when he fought him before the Eureka Club, of this city, was the accident that overtook him. Wongo broke a bone in one of his arms in that battle. The maimed nember is now well, and he wants Hanley to give him another fight. Hanley has shown no disposition to gratify the lu-dian's wishes up to this time.

Jack Daly is said to be getting himself into good shape for his meeting on the 11th with Ned McConnell. Daly admits that he never in his life before was as anxious to vin a fight as he is to win this one. He and win a fight as he is to win this one. He am McConnell are very bitter toward each other, and the battle is sure to be a victous one, for both men are strong, clever boxers and game to the core. The bout is to be with two-ounce gloves, to a finish. It is to take place in private at or near Wilmington. A select few of Daly's friends will go from this city to see it.

Again the report has been sent abroad that Jack McAuliffe has quit the ring. It said that McAuliffe was anxious to meet Kid Lavigne or Young Griffo, but that, as neither of these men has shown any disposition to meet bun since they fought their recent draw. Jack has become dised and has determined to have nothing more to do with the ring as a fighter, though he may turn out a trainer, manager or backer. He realizes that to await the picasure of Lavigne only makes him older and lessens his chances, and he proposes to not give the Michigan boy or anybody else the opportunity of making a reputat off of a "bas been."

The cast end of Washington is turning out boxers by the dozen these days. A number of them are on record as standing ready to match. On Monday night two of these newcomers, Tom Shenk and Walter Arnold, middleweights, came together in a barn on the Bladensburg road, for a fin-ish fight. Both men are new at the game, but they are credited with putting up a mill that for gameness and deverness would have been worthy of any of the Twenty-two rounds were fought when Shenk, who had been saving his strength, landed a stinging blow on Arnola's jaw that put the latter out. Up to the twentieth round matters were very even. Arnold is not satisfied with the result and has asked for another chance, but as yet Sheok has not agreed to give it to him. The Benefit of the Doubt. Matron—Now, is this novel a fit one for my daughter to read? Bookseller—H'm. Well, candidly, madam, think it a book of doubtful morality.

Matron-Well, I'll take it. Most of those I've read lately have been of undoubted

DR. R. C. FLOWER,

Of Boston.

Will Deliver His Free Lecture on "Health, Happiness and Beauty of

At WILLARD'S HALL Tuesday Afternoon, Nov. 12.

DEATH THEIR ONLY HOPE